KostaBoda

At Kosta Boda, we have worked with glass for close to 300 years. We haven't tired yet. If anything, our passion for the material and its magical properties keeps growing. Today, our production spans interior design, lifestyle and art – fueled by a quest to keep evolving, constantly seeking new expressions, by turns bold and accessible.

Our works enrich your home for everyday life and parties, always made with a style and quality intended to last for many years. Collections range from utility items that heighten meals, drinks and community, to innovative shapes that beautify spaces where people live and create memories together.

Kosta Boda is not only about what we do, but also who we are. Courage, determination and collaboration have been guiding principles for both brand and employees since we started in 1742. Other central qualities are craftsmanship, creativity and artistic freedom. The result is a tradition of inspiring, progressive glass production, divided into the areas Kosta Boda Collection and Kosta Boda Art Glass.

Kosta Boda Collection

The ambition of Kosta Boda Collection is to capture the spirit of the times in the form of commercial lifestyle products. The range consists of well-designed and functional interior items. Complementary materials can be used, but always with the glass in focus. We find inspiration in the collective history of the glassworks and designers like Signe Persson-Melin and Erik Höglund, complemented by present-day influences. The collections encompass fashion, music and art, and aim to beautify and enhance modern everyday life – whether it concerns dining-table accessories, interior design or celebration.

Brick

Anna Ehrner

The Brick series reflects the distinct features of brick, yet with the transparency of glass. The Brick votive from Kosta Boda has a square shape inspired by something exquisitely simple: a brick. Its style, which is created through the division of color in the votive holder, gives each Brick a unique appearance. Design by Anna Ehrner.

Caramba

Ulrica Hydman-Vallien

The inspiration for this Kosta Boda series from 1986 stems from a trip to Mexico. "¡Ay, caramba!" is a bold statement that indicates admiration, surprise or anger. It's a word associated with strong emotions, a strength reflected in Ulrica Hydman Vallien's hand-painted black details in the mouth-blown glass.

Contrast

Anna Ehrner

Contrast from Kosta Boda is made using a technique called centrifuging, which creates veils of color within the glass. Combined with colorful glass cane added during the process, each product is unique. The dish white/white in this collection is perfect as a serving dish or fruit plate. Design by Anna Ehrner

Fars Glas

Erik Höglund

Fars Glas – Swedish for father’s glass – is today something of a cult classic. Small wonder, as its designer Erik Höglund is considered one of the industry greats of the last century. Starting his professional career at Boda glassworks in the early fifties, he was a key figure in ushering in a new era and form in Swedish design. Apart from Höglund’s expertise in glass, he was also active as a painter, sculptor, and graphic artist.

Fars Glas is a mouth-blown wine glass with simplistic lines and a markedly robust shape, and a cherished item in Kosta Boda’s product archive. At long last, it’s once again available for all in an exclusive collaboration with Hem.

Jomo

Nina Christensen

Jomo is a collaboration between Kosta Boda and Swedish designer Nina Christensen. The series' unexpected combination of shapes playfully breaks the rules of how glasses are supposed to look, creating a unique expression. The organic lines and the weight of the glass add to the experience. True to her style and craft, Christensen makes the essence of glass – and the fascinating physical properties of glassblowing – part of the finished object. The Jomo series consists of four versatile and contemporary mouth-blown glasses with a distinguished bar feel, each with strong character and distinct appearance.

Kappa

Mimmi Blomqvist

Kappa is a series of vases in different sizes and executions by Mimmi Blomqvist for Kosta Boda. The series is mouth-blown into shape and is named after the bubble, or cap, that rises over the edge of the mold during manufacture. It is also this cap that has inspired the beautiful, billowing shape of the vases. The collection includes multiple styles, sizes and colors including a selection offered in circular glass produced from waste glass at Kosta Glassworks resulting in a unique coloration – shades from blue to green – for each object.

Kappa was launched in 2021 and is both a tribute to the artisanal history of glass and designed for a sustainable future.

Kosta

Kosta Boda

The Dala horse – a stylized horse shape, historically carved in wood and hand-painted in bright colors – has been a symbol of Swedish handicraft for centuries. Kosta Boda puts a shimmering twist on this tradition by introducing our own horse!

Cast in clear glass and available in three sizes, the Kosta Horse makes an outstanding complement to similar decorations – or stands out perfectly on its own.

Kosta

Bertil Vallien

Bertil Vallien's art and design always carry a layered or enigmatic meaning. These small barn and shed shapes used in the Kosta House are no exception – at once hinting at the familiar structures seen outside Kosta Glassworks, as boardgame props, and beyond.

The Kosta House is made in cast clear or colored glass at Kosta Glassworks in Sweden and comes in three different sizes, forming a decorative display for your home, serving as a functional bookend for your shelf or a valuable gift with a small hint of symbolism to family, friends or colleagues.

Lab by Kosta Boda is a new collaboration with brothers and fellow designers Matti and Simon Klenell. It's a series of vases at the intersection of function and decoration, inspired by the aesthetics and archetypes of traditional laboratory glass.

The contemporary series takes the rigid form and impeccable function of these scientific accessories, then adds colors and patterns to create an equally bold and unexpected expression.

Lab consists of four objects, crafted and mouth-blown in Kosta and available in a range of colors.

All pieces are versatile, suitable for serving beverages at the table, holding cut flowers, or simply as stunning decorative objects.

Limelight

Göran Wärff

Limelight is one of Kosta Boda's classics, a series that since the 1980s has highlighted the beautiful and festive aspects of everyday life. The glasses, vases, bowls and other pieces invite you to create beautiful settings every day of the week – not least since everything is dishwasher safe.

The series is characterized by a massive base, whose equally decorative and subtle pattern adds a light-diffusing, shimmering effect on any and all of your everyday festivities.

Line

Anna Ehrner

Who says we need such a sharp division between celebration and everyday life? This series is born from the idea that every new day is worth celebrating. Line is mouth-blown at Kosta Glassworks and radiates the same elegance today as when the collection first saw the light of day in 1982. Then and now, the final touch – the iconic, spun glass thread that gave the series its name – is applied by hand, in proud Swedish craft tradition.

Line consists of a carafe and several different glasses: wine, tumbler, martini, gin tonic, cognac, champagne, beer and aquavit.

Meadow

Sara Persson

A wild, blossoming field. That's both the inspiration for and expression of Meadow, a series of vases that look just as good on their own as holding a sheaf of roses. Or tulips, a mixed bouquet, a solitary flower, a well-chosen twig.

Meadow is made using a glass-crushing technique where the vases are rolled in colored, crushed glass while they are still red-hot. The shards blend into and become part of the glass itself, and no two vases are alike. The organic pattern combined with the straight lines creates a playful whole that highlights the craftsmanship, while the shape of the vase highlights the floral splendor it embraces.

Moss

Åsa Jungnelius

The lines are familiar, but together they form something unique - Moss. The soft paradox can be said to describe both the expression and the manufacturing process itself. The series is created from reused old molds from Kosta glassworks, which were carved out by hand to produce new shapes and create an undulating, irregular glass surface that is liquid, frozen and organic at the same time.

The product series contains a votive, vase, bowl, drinking glasses and a carafe. All products are mouth-blown produced in Kosta and are available in circular and clear glass.

Ernst Billgren

In his creative output, renowned Swedish artist Ernst Billgren has a habit of moving between artistic expressions, not seldom executed with themes close to nature and a light-hearted touch. The New Friends series, launched in 2008, is an excellent example.

Open Minds

Ulrica Hydman-Vallien

Ulrika Hydman Vallien's creation Open Minds is mouth-blown, and hand-painted with dramatic brushstrokes. Please excuse us if we become a bit boastful about this modern classic: the series cannot only be seen in homes around the world, but has also done cameos in TV series such as Friends and Sex and the City.

Open Minds was launched in 1986 and consists of a dish and two vases.

Orion

Clara von Zweigbergk

Orion is a series of votives by Kosta Boda, created by designer Clara von Zweigbergk. The design is an interplay of proportions and shapes, using lines and colors to highlight the ever-fascinating nature of glass. As the name suggests, the votives are made to be even bolder together – maybe a whole constellation? Orion is available in three colorways: grey, pink and clear glass.

Pavilion

Front

Pavilion is a series of vases, made in collaboration with renowned Swedish design studio Front. The six pieces share a distinct expression – with its characteristic geometric interplay – yet are wildly different in shape. They range from wide-mouthed, ready to embrace sprawling bouquets, to slender ones, perfect for a single flower or decorative twig.

A combination of vertical and horizontal ridges, Pavilion's signature pattern makes it instantly recognizable and, if we may say so, gives it the energy of a future classic.

Picnic

Bertil Vallien

When Picnic was launched in 1967, the underlying idea was to challenge the bourgeoisie's fixation on excessively large stemware sets. Why have so many pieces, when you can drink straight from the bottle or from simple glasses? Thus a classic was born, with a timeless, mouth-blown simplicity and splendor that works just as well today.

Stout but hollow stems allow the glasses to be filled right down to the base, accentuating the drink's color in a decorative way. Another lovely detail is the playful dynamic between glassware and carafe.

Picnic from Kosta Boda consists of glasses in two sizes, and a carafe with a cork.

Polar

Göran Wärff

Nature, light and ice – it was out of love for these great entities that Polar was born almost 50 years ago. This timeless series consists of a number of glass sculptures reminiscent of rippling water frozen in time. Each sculpture also doubles as a votive, where the clear glass refracts and diffuses the light to set the mood.

Polar from Kosta Boda invites you to combine and group different sizes, although each makes a beautiful design object on its own. Or as a unique gift, e.g. from Sweden to the Sydney Opera House (true story).

Polar was launched in 1974 and consists of votives in several different colors and sizes.

Polka

Kosta Boda

Polka by Kosta Boda is a series of glass decorations made in the image of traditional Swedish polka-stripe candy canes. Polka is set to be a seasonal favorite, whether for the holidays or other festive occasions. Since their very shape comes with a built-in hook, they are perfect for hanging in your Christmas tree or other suitable holiday spot.

The Polka canes come in four colorways – red/white, green/white, yellow/white and black/white – where the mix of glass and vibrant colors make them look as delicious as they are beautiful.

Rocky Baroque

Hanna Hansdotter

A rebellious take with ancient roots, the Rocky Baroque series from Kosta Boda is a playful remix of the classical column. Monumental contours meet raw, jagged surfaces in this series of candlesticks and vases. Pop colors mix with unyielding shapes, and the collection resides in the borderlands between sculpture and utility object, a recurring theme in Hanna Hansdotter's design. Humor and irony are other tools used to interpret and challenge authoritarian principles. The result is its own genre – Rocky Baroque.

Hanna Hansdotter describes herself as being drawn to the crossroads between the harsh and the decorative. When that spirit is captured as perfectly as with Rocky Baroque, who are we to argue?

Salong Betong – under the motto Notorious before unknown – has reached far beyond the world of tattoo-parlors which is their artistic origin. The collab with Kosta Boda rendered this series of bar glasses for various drinks, with or without alcohol, where the Kosta Boda logo has been remixed and sampled with a fond irreverence into several graphic patterns.

The series, launched in 2022, has a glass for each type of drink. Cheers!

Snowball

Ann Wolff

Snowball from Kosta Boda is not just any candle holder. This iconic glass votive has illuminated its surroundings since 1973, when it was created through an experiment in which glass was blown directly inside a snowdrift. It has since sold over 15 million copies worldwide. With a shape and surface as if actually made of snow, Snowball continues to evoke memories of childhood's snow lanterns – while lighting the winter darkness here and now.

StillLife

Ludvig Löfgren

Don't let the sight frighten you. While the appearance may be a dramatic nod to Shakespeare's Hamlet, it's just a series of votives. Nevertheless, it's a splendid option for an out-of-the-ordinary glass decoration, a memento mori reminding you to light a candle while you can.

Still Life from Kosta Boda was launched in 2008, and is available in several executions.

Sugar Dandy

Åsa Jungnelius

Sugar Dandy, launched in 2010, is about breaking with tradition – up to a certain point. The series consists of three oversized coupes, each with a discreet splash of color where the cup meets the stem. The subtle shades of green, blue and pink make it easy to create unique and personal table settings. And whoever wants just a tiny glass of champagne? Or soda, for that matter. Or why not break a few more rules – an all-out coup(e) – and serve dessert out of a glass? You decide.

Sunflower

Göran Wärff

Sunflower by Göran Wärff – is another Kosta Boda brand icon brought back to life! In an effort to make past masterpieces available to new audiences, Kosta Boda is excited to reissue select products from its comprehensive archive. Sunflower, a classic series of votives first introduced in 1974, bears all the hallmarks of Wärff's artistry and Kosta Boda's design DNA.

Natural light as well as organic shapes as they appear in nature were two major sources of inspiration for Göran Wärff (1933–2022), and both come to the fore in Sunflower. Here is an opportunity for a new generation of Kosta Boda consumers to find this epic design outside of a vintage design store.

The reissued series includes votives in three different heights, one edition in clear glass and one in circular glass. The latter uses repurposed waste glass from the hot shop in Kosta. This waste glass is upcycled and re-used in circular production of new items providing each product with a unique color tone and look. Sunflower is made in a two-step cast production technique relying on gravity, skill and experience to combine flower and stem.

Tears of joy

Åsa Jungnelius

Some things simply capture your imagination. Tears of Joy by Åsa Jungnelius for Kosta Boda does precisely that. A decorative entity – whether you see it as a sculptural plate, enigmatic shape or shiny tear – it heightens and complements the setting, wherever you place it. The choices are endless, and yours.

Tears of Joy has been launched in several executions, most recently silver and gold in borosilicate glass. A new feature is that one side doubles as a subtle mirror, adding functionality and versatility to the aesthetic appeal. Now, retailed as a 2-pack with one small and one large piece.

The Rock

Hanna Hansdotter

The lineage is clear, yet The Rock stands firmly on its own. In celebrating the 50th anniversary of Ann Wolff's iconic Snowball, Hanna Hansdotter has created a worthy homage. This series of votives and bowls, available in multiple colors, reinvents the familiar, irregular surface, now with a dramatic silhouette and a gem-like color palette.

To sum it up, all fans of Snowball – with 15 million sold, we are many – are in for a déjà vu that's as progressive as it is pleasant.

Azur is a collection of cast and cut objects – like moments frozen in time. A staircase, a moon, a person. Space has always been a natural workplace for Bertil Vallien: the tiny human and the great, big world continuously sparking our curiosity. The collection, which is part of the Kosta Boda Artist Collection, first launched in 2018. The 2024 series is in petroleum blue – a color that Bertil used for several unique works that he created for his 60-year anniversary in 2023.

Bertil Vallien's world, we encounter the inner nature of glass. Clear glass is strongly contrasted against the opaque black plinth. Annual Brains

Bertil Vallien

Bertil Vallien created his first Brain in 1999, but the idea had been with him for more than a decade before that. He wanted to capture a sleeping yet living soul – the human being in the mysterious borderland between dream and wakefulness. His inspiration partly came from the story of “The Sleeper of Oknö,” Karolina Olsson, who, according to legend, slept for 32 years and suddenly awoke one April day in 1908.

In 2023, as Bertil celebrated 60 years as an artist at Kosta Boda, he created a new series of Brains — a gift to those of us who have followed his journey through the decades, never ceasing to cherish his unique gift for reinventing the art of glass.

Friends again

Ulrica Hydman-Vallien

Open minds trophy Friends

Everything can be painted on! That was Ulrica's strong conviction from the beginning. Plates, glasses, jars - everything is worth a picture. Anyone who has had the privilege of visiting her home in Bromsastugan in Åfors knows that there is not a gadget that Ulrica has not painted.

This year's trophies look at us with a typical Ulrica face. The colors don't hide, they take tone. The glass is watching us! Sassy and feminine and confident. As if it was made up with lipstick and eyeliner. Just like Ulrica herself, who never looked away.

To also end up in the spotlight in the beloved television series Friends in the 1990s (they used the trophies as flower vases, among other things) does not make the story any worse. She had the habit inside. In the 1980s, her Caramba became a popular glass through the legendary Jacob Dahlin, who every night ended his show by toasting her cup!

Is there a Swedish home without Ulrica items? For Ulrica, it was important to spread her products around the world. When, in the early 1970s, she switched to working with the glass mass, she succeeded in reaching that goal with flying colors. Glass became a way for her to keep in touch with the rest of us on a daily basis.

In Ulrica's generous world, no distinction was made between nice and ugly. Art or utility? These trophies are beautiful to look at, but also lovely to (carefully!) toast with.

Golden Angel

Kjell Engman

Golden Angel was made with inspiration from Kjell Engman's bathing ladies, which have the same full-bodied shape and are modeled after gospel singers he saw performing while traveling in the US. Golden Angel watches over the ladies as they take a dip in the morning darkness – a lovely, thoughtful gift and a wish for happiness. This item from Kosta Boda Artist Collection is pressed in a mold at Kosta Glassworks. The sandblasted wings are cut on, and the body, which is hand-painted in real 24 karat gold, stands on a glass foot casted in a mold.

Isolde

Markus Åkesson

'My goal has been to simply make a figurine. I've always been interested in small sculptures, ones that anyone can buy, mainly in the world of ceramics. We had them at home when I was growing up and I got lost in them. I have a collection myself now, which I have used as a motif in my paintings. I think it can be seen as an androgynous figure, in a meditative state of mind - a sculptural expression that I find interesting. The name evokes antiquity, which I like, but it's actually the name the model I sculpted after.'

-Markus Åkesson

The Isolde figurine in three different poses and brilliant, deep colors is mouth-blown at Kosta Glassworks. Isolde is part of the Kosta Boda Artist Collection, is launched in 2025.

Mother of Pearl

Åsa Jungnelius

Åsa Jungnelius' Mother of Pearl sculpture has become a classic and is presented in various contexts and scales in her work. Now the Venus shell is available as a smaller object in the Kosta Boda Artist Collection. "This small sculpture is uniquely shaped in hot glass at the hot shop," says Åsa Jungnelius. "The shell is also about the power of empty space. I love the actual pearl surrounded by the Venus shell – the very essence of glass as a material. The optical effect causes you to see the world upside down, providing access to a fresh perspective." Mother of Pearl is cast in a graphite mold, in which the color is poured into the scoop. The pattern is created individually by the mold. The crystal-clear pearl is hand-sculpted and the pieces are joined with heat in the hot shop. "This work is also about my deep love of glass, craftsmanship, glass blowing, history, tradition and the glassworks," says Åsa Jungnelius.

My Palace

Bertil Vallien

A solid cast cubic-shaped house that has become an established miniature universe in Bertil Vallien's workshop. This collection is typical of the artist in many ways, notably representing his sense of space. These works of glass seem haunted by a floating sphere, a head – or simply by emptiness. In Bertil's many years of exploring the inherent magic of glass, he always wants us to discover its natural form. So, here again, the focus is all on the glass itself. It is beautiful, playful, verging on the impossible!

My Palace is part of Bertil Vallien's anniversary collection, "Bertil Vallien: 60 years with Kosta Boda" (1963–2023), and is crafted at the Kosta Glassworks in Sweden.

PET

Ulrica Hydman-Vallien

PET from Kosta Boda Artist Collection was Ulrica's spontaneous response after Björn Kjelltoft painted her pattern on PET bottles and paper plates for an exhibition at the University of Arts, Crafts & Design (Konstfack). Ulrica took back control of her designs and used them to adorn a limited edition of PET bottles made of glass. The objects, which is marked with Ulrica Hydman Vallien's seal, is mouth-blown in a mold at Kosta Glassworks, and then hand-painted, which gives each PET a unique expression.

Snippan

Åsa Jungnelius

Åsa Jungnelius' modern classic, Snippan, is now being presented in a smaller design that can also be used as a bowl. Since it was first created in 2003, Snippan has become a contemporary feminist symbol that has recurred in different forms and formats in Jungnelius' art, for example, in countless table settings – a work that Jungnelius describes as a social act. The sculpture is included in Nationalmuseum's collection as the "motherhood" of the work Your hair is so pretty! – a sealed blown-glass object that challenges concepts such as gender, power, space and identity. In 2004, Snippan helped to establish a new word, which was included two years later in the Swedish Academy Dictionary. "I'm so glad that Snippan is now available in a smaller, more accessible design for interiors – it is a sculpture, but it is also a bowl, a carrier," says Åsa Jungnelius. Snippan is cast in a graphite mold at the hot shop in Kosta and painted with liquid platinum.
